Guidance on Minimum Requirements for Business Members or Sponsors

Leaf411™ is a strong advocate for ensuring safety and transparency around the manufacture and sale of cannabis and hemp products. The information contained in a current and comprehensive Certificate of Analysis is vital information to help inform the consumer and the Leaf411™ team.

Please review the following guidance around the minimum requirements that we ask of Leaf411™ members and supporters. Thank you for helping to make the the cannabis and hemp industry safe by providing accessible information to the public.

1. Leaf411 nurses will educate all callers to only consume cannabis and hemp products that are 3rd party lab tested and have a current Certificate of Analysis (COA)
2. COAs should include test results that indicate individual cannabinoid content, terpene content (ideally), and confirm the absence of heavy metal, pesticide, and microbial contamination
3. Leaf411 will require submission of current COAs for ingested and inhaled products as part of the vetted member/sponsor application process
4. Leaf411 requires that the public has access to their purchased product(s) COA. It is strongly encouraged that the COAs are easily accessible to the public via the product webpage. If a product COA is not published on-line, it should be made available to consumers upon request
5. The label should include the serving size, number of servings per container, a list of all dietary ingredients in the product and the amount per serving of each ingredient. All labels should include a net quantity of contents, lot number or batch ID, the name and address of the manufacturer, and an expiration or manufacturing date.
6. Transparency: Our members & sponsors provide an "About Us" type section on their web site to inform consumers about their companies' leadership.
